It's no secret that being a warrior is not an easy job.

Especially in the heat of battle, fighting in the front lines for your life. The thought that you should protect your loved ones may arouse the emotion, but you may still feel weak and faint. In this very moment, you may forget your own existence and become nothing more than a tool for an all-consuming force, serving their will. Until now. Although fighting is the major element of "The Warrior" to balance out the game, it is still not enough to express the agony that war inflicts on the human soul. And so, "The Warrior" is designed from the ground up to bring you not only a new fighting system, but also a unique and more comfortable view of the game world. To begin with, you'll be able to control your favorite units from the front lines. They will often accompany you in battle, and often clash with each other, working toward their common goal. If you happen to lose one of them in battle, the one you've lost will search and ask for you. You'll be able to control all of your units and set them free. You can also assign them to one of 6 special areas on the map for an extra special operation. The game also introduces an unique game board. It is a dimension-separating board that will allow you to experience a new dimension in battles. It will split the battlefield into different parts and when you fight on this board, the units from both sides will not interfere with each other.

Gather your allies and have as much fun as you can with "The Warrior". Features: Front-lines control A new game board - Dimension separating board Battlefield management system Special attack areas 6 clans to choose from

Allergic fungal sinusitis in children with asthma. Allergic fungal sinusitis (AFS) is a type of chronic rhinosinusitis. It is usually a childhood disease associated with a significant morbidity caused by massive polyp formation obstructing the ostiomeatal complex. This study aimed to describe the clinical profile of AFS in children and to compare those with other chronic rhinosinusitis (CRS) in relation to the use of medical therapies. A retrospective chart review was conducted of children with AFS from 2001 to 2006. A total of 21 patients were evaluated for AFS. The median age at diagnosis was 11.6 years; 11 were male and 10 were female. Patients presented

fiction comedy-drama film directed by Kang Je-gyu. It is the first in the Armageddon film series. The movie is based on a short story by Kang Bong-won, called "○○○ ○○", that initially appeared in the February 1992 issue of the humor magazine, Mipingu (The Chimp). The film was developed for its production by two companies in the 1990s: the Internet company Orange and the South Korean film studio Blue Gull. Distributed and sold by the latter, the film won numerous awards in South Korea and received over 9 million theatrical admissions by 2005. The Wonderful End of the World was well reviewed but neither a commercial nor a critical success. Its reception and aftermath still remain controversial in South Korea, to this day. The online journal Knight News identified the film as one of the "rare movie disasters" that "stumble upon, then demolish" a "notoriously powerful feedback circuit" among Korea's elite. Summary Actress Kim Hye-ja, her child and her husband Lee Sang-hoon are visited by a deceased Chinese missionary, who tells them that the events depicted in the movie had actually happened 500 years ago. The visit comes as a stroke of good luck for the family. The deceased tells them that Sang-hoon will love her in the afterlife and they'll reunite and have a child together. Upon hearing the news, Kim Hye-ja calls Sang-hoon and tells him that he will soon be having a wonderful and happy future. However, later that night, she goes into labour and gives birth to the couple's son, who is to die immediately due to his weak birth. Her husband goes to the hospital in the night, leaving her alone and unable to take care of him. She sees the sun rise on the day of his birth and the day of his death in the hospital, but they seem simultaneous for her. After finding his son dead, she takes her newborn baby back with her to the movie theater, whereupon the next day, her child dies in the same fashion as his father. At the climax, we discover that the woman is Kim Hye-ja, the child is not her son, but her husband is her husband, and they live happily ever after. Cast Main cast Lee Sang-h
