I don't know what the name of a card is in English, but one of the LC's rules says that a worker can go to a room without possessing up to 3 of them. Does that mean that a worker can go to a room without possessing one of each color? A: You can only possess up to 3 cards of a single color. You could say that you could go into a room without possessing a blue card and not a black card. Since there is only one of each, this would leave a room with 2 black cards and one blue card. China has put on hold its plans to build a mega-city in the Indian Ocean, following the outcry against the project, which is being opposed by environmentalists and locals. The city, which would have a population of up to 20 million, was to be built between Cambodia and Thailand. Although it was not officially named, the project was thought to be "the most expensive in the world", according to the Daily Telegraph. "They want to build everything in the sea but they have not thought about the consequences on the local ecology, nor on the environment," Heang Sopheak, Cambodia's ambassador to China, told the Telegraph. China's move came on the same day that Cambodian Prime Minister Hun Sen warned that "the world is scared of China".
