
City Car Driving Serial Number 1.3.3

What if I have never driven a commercial motor vehicle You must complete a commercial driving course that includes at least 24 hours of instruction. Most basic commercial driver training programs include at least 12 hours of instruction, such as the State's and the Federal Highway Administration's 24-hour training programs. Public Works & Highways (PWH), which is a service of the Idaho Department of Transportation, provides instruction to low-income individuals or those who do not have a driver's license. In addition to its CDL basic instructional program, PWH offers a CDL class that meets the requirements of the Federal Highway Administration's one-day training program (ibid. 13.2402). The Idaho State Police provides certificates of completion for the BAC and/or drug testing that is a part of the Supervised Instruction Permit (SIP) to holders of an "S" permit. "S" Permit holders must receive a certificate of completion of the drug and alcohol testing as a condition of driving the vehicle. Non-"S" Permit holders may receive a certificate of completion of a drug and alcohol test if they request and pay for the services of a non-"S" permittee. The SIP is a two (2) year permit that runs concurrent with your professional driving license. Supervised Driving applicants must pay a $100.00 annual renewal fee. A GPS tracking device is required of all drivers and non-passengers who are driving a commercial vehicle. This device must be installed on the commercial vehicle by the manufacturer or authorized dealer. "This commercial vehicle tracking device is designed to be installed by an authorized dealer or manufacturer to detect driver location and operation of a commercial vehicle. The device is not to be used for non-commercial purposes (e.g., for monitoring your pets)."

A valid CDL is required when driving a commercial motor vehicle under any of the following conditions: Driving a commercial motor vehicle with a GVW of 26,001 pounds or more Driving a combination of vehicles or vehicle parts weighing 26,001 pounds or more Commercial instruction is legal and permitted in Idaho. Drivers are required to pass a Class B Commercial Driver's License endorsement to obtain instructions from and operate a commercial motor vehicle. Instruction does not include driving a commercial motor vehicle alone (as defined in 13.2402), being a family member, or spouse of a person driving a commercial motor vehicle. Instructions may not be given to anyone under the age of 18 years old (ibid. 13.2402). The CDL endorsement allows a person to drive a commercial motor vehicle with a graduated weight rating or gross vehicle weight (GVW) that exceeds 26,001 pounds (gross combination rating) or any combination of vehicles or vehicle parts weighing over 26,001 pounds (ibid. 13.2401). To obtain a CDL endorsement, the driver must successfully pass a knowledge test and a practical examination on commercial driving skills and rules, and must be accompanied by a person with a valid valid driver license and a valid CDL (ibid. 13.240). What if I have never driven a commercial motor vehicle You must complete 12 hours of basic instruction prior to operating a commercial motor vehicle. The minimum 12-hour course includes instruction on commercial driving rules, safe driving practices, highway rules, and safe-operation techniques. The Idaho Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMI) issues a CDL to those who successfully complete a 12-hour course.
